How to get around in Berlin

Berlin has an extensive local public transportation system. You can plan your journeys by searching for connections on the website of the transportation company: <https://www.bvg.de/en>. We also recommend you to download the local transportation app called "BVG". A single ticket for zones AB (within city limits) is valid for one journey of 2 hours, and costs €2.80. A day ticket costs €7.00. A single ticket for zones ABC (required when arriving from/to Schönefeld Airport) costs €3.40.
